Explore

The beauties of the Iguassu National Park

An aerial photograph of the Kwassu Falls, showing a wide river with numerous cascades and waterfalls. The water is a mix of brown and white, with a large plume of white foam in the center. The surrounding area is lush green forest. The text 'KWASSU FALLS' is overlaid in the top right corner.

KWASSU FALLS

The largest set of waterfalls in the world: 275 falls with an average flow of 1.5 million liters of water per second
